

When a treehouse just isn't good enough

---

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20080403-01

April 3, 2008

Raymond Chen

Not satisfied with a patio or treehouse, some people have built a monorail or a roller coaster in their backyard. And then there's this one guy who apparently has not yet run out of strange things to build in his backyard. Former projects include include a domed swimming pool, a garden accessible only from above, a carousel, and a forty-four foot kite.

Raymond Chen

Follow

